01 INTRODUCTION

In 2024, Porsche Michelin Sprint Challenge Australia celebrates its 16th season in Australia.

The series became a reality in 2008 when a group of enthusiasts took their Porsche race cars to Mallala in South Australia to kick start a four-round mini-series – but it's grown a long way from there.

Now managed by Porsche Cars Australia, the series has developed into one of Australia's best and most professionally run racing series offering Porsche enthusiasts progressing from state level championships an opportunity to compete in the previous generation 911 GT3 Cup cars in a competitive and welcoming environment.

For young drivers, the series is a launch pad in their pursuit of a professional motor racing career. Several drivers have used Sprint Challenge to gain experience in a high-performance sports car before their journey up the Porsche Motorsport Pyramid.

The ultimate example of the success of this pathway is Matt Campbell. After winning the Class B title in 2014, Campbell raced two Carrera Cup seasons, winning the Porsche Carrera Cup Australia Pro Championship in 2016 and claiming success at the Porsche Motorsport Junior Program Shootout, which promoted the Queenslander to the Porsche Mobil 1 Supercup as a Porsche Junior.

Third in the Supercup saw Campbell promoted to a Porsche Young Professional role and an extensive Porsche factory race program in 2018. In 2019, Campbell was part of the Bathurst 12 Hour Earl Bamber Motorsport winning team and for 2020 was named as full Porsche factory driver, which he remains until today.

Other drivers have had similar success: Jaxon Evans progressed to, and won, Carrera Cup and has since forged a professional career in Sports Car and GT racing. 2019 champion Harri Jones progressed to Carrera Cup, won that, and moved to Porsche Supercup. 2022 champion Tom Sargent moved to the United States and was a race winner in his first year of Carrera Cup North America.

2023 champion Marco Giltrap – the series' youngest ever – is expected to shift to Carrera Cup in 2024 for the next step of his journey.

Racing at high profile National Championship events in 2024, the series retains Michelin as its Title Partner and official Tyre Supplier.

For Pro and Pro-Am competitors alike, Porsche Michelin Sprint Challenge Australia will continue as one of Australia's best one-make racing series in 2024.

With excellent TV coverage, strong factory support, media coverage and digital media exposure and parts support, the series is professionally run and managed to the highest level.

Be sure to follow the @PorscheMotorsportAU social channels on Facebook, YouTube and Instagram (and @PorscheRacesAU on Twitter) for all the latest news, videos and racing action from the 2024 season.

DRIVER CLASSIFICATION

DRIVER CLASSIFICATION

DRIVERS IN SPRINT CHALLENGE AUSTRALIA FALL WITHIN THREE CLASSES – PRO AND PRO-AM AND CLASS B. THERE ARE GUIDELINES IN PLACE TO HELP DETERMINE THE CLASSIFICATIONS OF A DRIVER, WITH THE ULTIMATE DECISION FALLING WITH PORSCHE CARS AUSTRALIA.

PRO

Over the seasons, Sprint Challenge is being used as a launch pad for young drivers' motor racing careers. These drivers, who are racing a Porsche 911 GT3 Cup (Type 991 Gen II) car, have traditionally formed the Pro class in Sprint Challenge. While both the 2020 and 2021 Sprint Challenge Championships were not concluded due to Covid travel restrictions. The 2022 Pro Champion was Thomas Sargent. Other noteworthy Pro drivers have included Richard Muscat, Jaxon Evans, Harri Jones, Dylan O'Keeffe and Matt Campbell, who won the final round of the 2014 season in the Pro division having already secured the Class B crown.

PRO-AM

Porsche Michelin Sprint Challenge Australia is just as much about the Pro-Am racer as it is of the drivers competing for outright victory. The Pro-Am class is exclusively for semi-professional drivers racing the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup (Type 991 Gen II) car. These drivers do not seek to make a profession from motor racing nor do they seek to earn an income from racing duties. Instead, the Pro-Am racer consists of business leaders with a willingness to race sports cars. Or more specifically, the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup car on national stage.

CLASS B

The Porsche Michelin Sprint Challenge Australia series is a multi-class series, allowing drivers to compete in the older generation Porsche 911 GT3 Cup (Type 991 Gen I) cars on an invitational basis. Regardless of whether a driver is classified as a Pro or Pro-Am, all racers competing in the 991 Gen I GT3 Cup car will form part of the Class B invitational division.

JIM RICHARDS ENDURANCE TROPHY

Porsche Sprint Challenge is a series based around sprint races, though its long-distance 'series within a series' has proven to be a popular element. The Jim Richards Endurance Trophy debuted in 2011, traditionally featuring one long distance race per round. The highest outright point scorer from these longer format races will then become the Endurance Champion and receive the Jim Richards Endurance Trophy at the end of the season.
